

March 6, 2023

A new name, but not new to the game! Today, March 6, 2023, Stryten Energy, formerly GNB Industrial Power unveiled new product names across our entire industrial portfolio of energy storage solutions. The simplified product names and labels for our premium line of industrial batteries and chargers are designed to help our dealer partners and customers easily navigate our expanding portfolio of material handling, railway and backup power batteries and chargers.

E-Series encompasses Stryten's portfolio of essential power batteries, chargers and racking systems used for stationary backup power in the telecommunications, uninterruptible power supply (UPS), railway, utility and renewable industries. The branding has changed but the products have not! The designs of our VRLA and Flooded batteries and chargers remain the same and the quality that you expect.

We look forward to working with you to ensure a smooth transition. If you have any questions, please get in touch with your sales contact or the Stryten Energy customer service team at: customersupport.alpharetta@stryten.com.
